

ORAL SEX

Stop talking about it with your friends and start the conversation where it belongs - with your spouse!

If you don't talk about it - you'll be in one of two camps:
A) You won't do it (and one spouse is probably disappointed) or B) You'll suffer through it (and sex isn't meant to be a burden)

amongst married couples...

84%

engage in oral sex at least monthly

88%

use oral sex primarily as foreplay

times/month is the average frequency each spouse gives oral sex

If oral sex isn't something that excites you and/or your spouse, we encourage you to be transparent about the reasons.

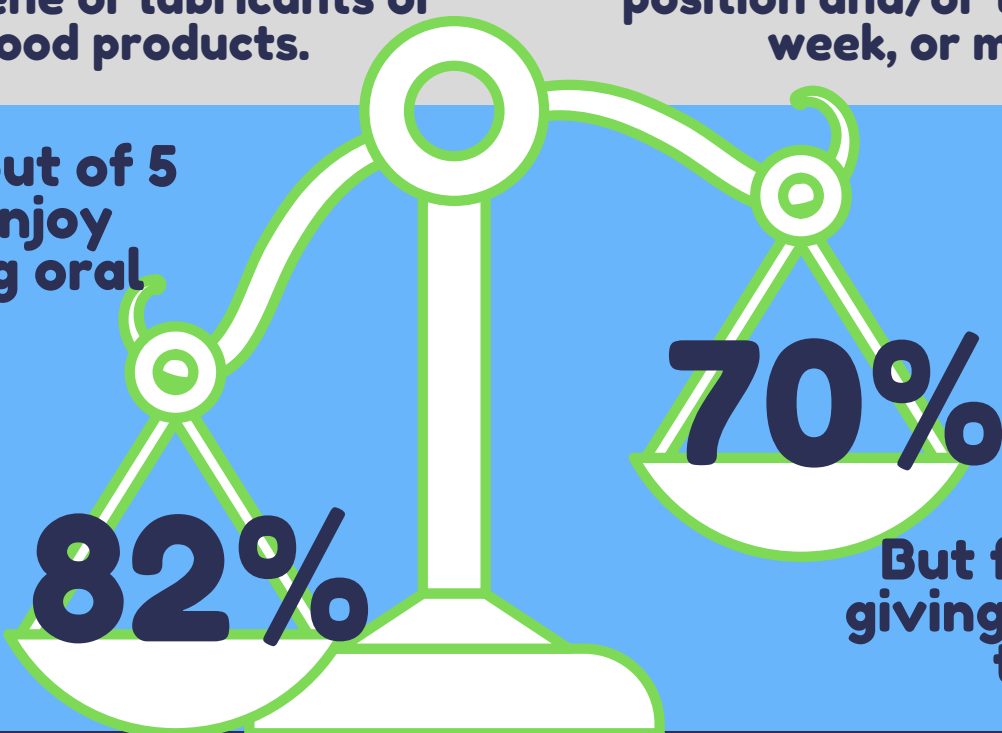

Hygiene - If you have sensitivities around smell/taste, consider changes to hygiene or lubricants or food products.

Position - Be aware that there's more than one way to stimulate each other. Change the physical position and/or time of day, week, or month!

Over 4 out of 5 people enjoy receiving oral sex

But fewer enjoy giving oral sex to their spouse
